USEF PONY FINALS -AUGUST 8, 2023

LIVE FROM ROLEX STADIUM AT THE KENTUCKY HORSE PARK

The 2023 edition of USEF Pony Finals got underway this morning at Kentucky Horse Park with the Medium Pony Hunter Model & Under Saddle and the Small Green Pony Hunter Model & Under Saddle. It was a two for two day for both Emi Richard and JJ Torano. Torano won the Medium Model with Valentijn, and rode La Croix to the win in the Small Green Under Saddle. Richard took home top honors in the Medium Under Saddle with Play Date and a win in the Small Green Model Confidentially.

Lexington, KY - This morning the massive Rolex Stadium was split in half, with the Model classes going on one side and the Under Saddles on the other. Welcoming a field of 137 entries, the Medium Pony Hunters were split into 12 sections - one by one each section modeled and then hacked.

When all was said and done, it was 13-year-old JJ Torano of Wellington, FL and Pamela Wright & Charlotte Rossetter's Valentijn who took home the win in the Model. The pair also finished up 9th in the Under Saddle, putting them in a good spot going into tomorrow's Over Fences.

JJ TORANO, ON THE WIN:
 "To win at Pony Finals is pretty cool, you have to be at the top of your game and have good ponies. I've been riding Valentijn for a few months now, my favorite thing about him is how sweet he is on the ground."

Regarding how it went today, Torano said, "I felt good about how today went and the win puts me in a good place going into tomorrow."

Under Saddle

Taking center stage in the Medium Pony Hunter Under Saddle for the win with an overall score of 266 were Play Date, an El Manto, LLC entry out of Wellington, FL, and Emi Richard of Middlefield, CT.

"The ride on Play Date was last minute," Richard said, "It was good that I already knew him - I rode him in his first show. He is so much fun to ride and is very floaty."

Richard, shared a very valuable lesson learned early in life, "My mom always says attitude is everything, so even if I don't get a good ribbon, I keep a good attitude and keep going."

Entering the Winner's Circle for the second time today was Emi Richard, this time to collect the blue ribbon in the Small Green Pony Model with Erin Stewart's entry, Confidentially.

Imported in 2021 from Holland, Confidentially, a 2015 Welsh Pony gelding, has proven himself here at his Pony Finals debut. "We are really excited," Stewart said, "We knew he was special. We were thrilled to see him do well today and hope it carries over to tomorrow."

Richard and Confidentially took the top spot with an overall score of 269. Second place went to Clovermeade Heartthrob presented by Reilly Robertson, while JJ Torano took third with JET Show Stables' La Croix.

EMI RICHARD,
ON THE WIN

"I won the Small Green hack here two years ago and it was very exciting just like today's win in the Model. I've been riding "Pete" for two years now, and my favorite thing about him is how willing he is."

JET Show Stables' La Croix, and JJ Torano of Wellington, FL topped the Under Saddle in the Small Green Pony Hunters. Speaking highly of "Fin," Torano said "He has a great personality and is very cool in any situation. The Under Saddle went great today, it is nice to be able to head into tomorrow sitting higher up in the overall standings."

Second went to Carsyn Korotkin of Wellington, FL aboard the Castlewood Farm entry, Call Of Duty. Lacey Powers of Loxahatchee, FL and Miss Miracle rounded out the top three.
